Allies Claim Many POW's Not Returned

U.N. Command Will Demand Accounting Of Missing Captives

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Sept 7—The United Nations Command today prepared a stiff demand on the Communists for the return or an accounting of Americans known to have been captured by the Reds but not returned in the prisoner exchange which ended yesterday.

"There is no time to be wasted," said a U. N. spokesman. He said the demand on the Reds probably would be made today.

Had Been Tortured

This was a postscript to the tragic last day of the prisoner exchange yesterday, when American airmen with brilliant records in both World War II and the Korean fighting were returned with obvious marks of mental torture on them.

They told of months of mental and physical mistreatment by Chinese who finally forced them to sign "confessions' of germ warfare something the U. N. had stoutly denied. In freedom, tney made clear the statements signed were fraudulent.

The U. N. Command declined to say immediately how many Allied war prisoners are on the missing list pending a final cross-check of those released during the 33 days of Operation Big Switch. But it was believed the number would be a substantial one.

List Compiled

The names have been compiled by intelligence officers for the last three years from evidence in Communist broadcasts, propaganda, letters from the missing men and double-check of testimony of men who have been freed.

Heading the list of the still missing is Air Force Capt. Harold Fischer, a double jet ace from Swea City, Iowa. Fischer is credited with 10 MIG jet kills.

Fischer's return had been expected on the last day of the exchange The Communists had boasted in a Peiping radio broadcast that they shot Fischer down over Manchuria last spring and captured him.

The Reds said recently they would send back all the Allied prisoners who desired repatriation They said the last man across the freedom line at Panmunjom Sunday concluded the list.

Little U.N. Can Do

Beyond demanding the return or accounting for those men the U. N. Command believes the Reds still hold, there is little the U N. can do if the Communists stand on a bland denial.

The U. N. can appeal to the neutral nations commission supervising the Korean armistice. It can also appeal to world opinion.

But the effectiveness of such appeals can be judged against the record of unsuccessful attempts by Germany and Japan, who are still asking Soviet Russia and Red

West Victory Bitter Blow To Moscow

Communist Party Routed; 26 Million Voters Trek To Polls

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—Pro-American Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won a landslide election victory today, West Germany voted to rearm with the West, rejected Socialist neutralism, routed the Communist Party, and smashed an attempted Nazi comeback.

It was a political disaster for Moscow, and a triumph for Washington.

A mammoth turnout of 26 million of 33 million eligible voters gave an overwhelming endorsement to Adenauer's policy of contributing German manpower and resources to the military defense of the free world.

The Socialists, who opposed rearmament and sought to appease the Soviets by a program of unarmed neutrality, were soundly trounced.

Complete unofficial returns from 116 out of 242 West German election districts totaled 10,238,708 valid votes. The distribution among major parties:

Christian Democrats (CDU), 4,611,205; Social Democrats (SPD), 2,865,194; Free Democrats (FDP) 1,070,928, German Party (DP), 387,039; Refugee Party (BHE), 646,766; Communists (KPD), 205,653; German Reich Party (DRP), 96,850; All-German Peoples Party (GVP), 121,011.

Sharp vigilance by West German authorities prevented a feared outbreak by Reds thuns from East Germany who spent Sunday in jail instead of molesting voters as the government charged they were ordered to do by Moscow.

The election took place in a calm, violence-free atmosphere.

Another late election issue—endorsement of Adenauer by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles which Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer denounced as interference in the German election—apparently did Adenauer no harm.

The election shaped up as a thundering victory for the chancellor and his vigorous policy of close ties with the West.

Throughout the campaign he called for support for his project to provide German troops for the common defense of Europe.

Unofficial vote totals showed the people agreed. The opposition Socialists, led by the mild Ollenhauer, couldn't cope with the Christian Democrats.

Even in districts where Socialists had held first rank traditionally, Adenauer's party made strong headway. Such a place was the city of Frankfurt which swung from the Socialists to the Christian Democrats.

The Socialist policy of neutralism and rejection of the western alliance apparently backfired when nearly 26 million out of 33,200,000 eligible voters cast their ballots.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats have ruled West Germany since the country set up its first postwar national government in 1949. Burgeoning returns showed them likely to continue to do so in alliance with their coalition parties, the Free Democrats and the German Party. These three groups polled well over the 50 per cent required to control the new 484-member Parliament.

The socialists were still second, but a weaker second than in the last Parliament.

The voters choice was plain:

1. Endorsement of free enterprise and the Western alliance.
2. Rejection of Socialism and unarmed neutrality.

The Communists got nowhere. Their chief, Max Reimann, lost his bid for reelection to Parliament and they seemed certain of losing the 14 seats they held in the old house.

Remann was defeated by a Christian Democrat in what had

Day Dedicated to Working Man

Many Likely To Forget Real Meaning of Holiday

Millions of Americans today observe the holiday known as Labor Day. But few will really appreciate the significance of this date which has been set aside to honor the working man of America.

While they are streaming across the highways on their way to find a little ease and comfort in the final fling of the summer season, not many persons will stop to think why they do not have to be at work on this day

There are few persons who will remembed that this day was set apart to pay tribute to the men and women working in the nation's factories and shops — the workers who built America into the country which it is now.

IT WAS BACK in 1882 that Peter J. McGuire, a close friend of Samuel Gompers, first president of the American Federation of Labor, spoke before a gathering of workers in his home town, New York.

He reminded the men present at that meeting that there were days set aside for saints, generals, statesmen, explorers and others, but none which paid honor to the workers

He called on the workers to organize a special day for themselves. The men who heard the speech were so fired by it they immediately began to plan their day.

American Workers 'Give Lie to Sly Evils Of Totalitarianism'

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower hailed the freedom of American workers Sunday, and said they "give the lie to the sly evil of the promises of totalitarianism."

"We contemplate with renewed appreciation," he said in a Labor Day statement, "the principles that make and keep us a free people," and added

"The workers of America are witnesses, before the world, of the strength, the pride and the prosperity that alone can be won by free labor. They are strong in their independent unions They are proud beyond the temptations of political subservience They are an indestructible bulwark of free government.

"These witnesses to freedom's blessings give the lie to the sly evil of the promises of totalitarianism. They mock the false insinuation that economic well-being can be purchased only at the cost of political freedom. They are the final answer to those who prate freedom and practice slavery, who excuse terror and aggression in the name of concern for the very workers whose lives they stifle.

Martin Says Korean Truce Just Breather

GANDEEVILLE, W. Va., (AP) — House Speaker Martin of Massachusetts said Sunday the truce in Korea is only a breathing spell and "the vicious Communist aggressors will strike again."

Martin, addressing Gandeeville's annual homecoming celebration, said consequently the United States "must support the South Koreans not only morally, but with arms and equipment"

He also called for aid to rebuild the power of Japan to resist Communist aggression, and for assistance to the Chinese Nationalists "in their brave fight to bring freedom once again to the Chinese mainland"

The speaker's warning about renewed aggression contrasted with a statement made Thursday by Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles told a news conference the United States expected peace to continue in Korea and did not look for a resumption of fighting.

Hurricane Warnings Go Up on East Coast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau ordered storm warnings posted from Manasquan, N. J., to Eastport, Me., late today as a precautionary measure while it tried to decide which way a dangerous Atlantic hurricane might turn.

Calling the hurricane "still a very dangerous storm" the bureau urged interests along the coast from New Jersey to Eastport to keep alert for further word of the blow.

DEAN BEGINS TREATMENT

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 7 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean today began two weeks of treatment in an Army hospital for amoebic dipentery resulting from his three years' Communist captivity.

ROK's Who Sold Out Dean Jailed

SEOUL, Monday, Sept 7 (AP)—Two South Koreans are in jail, accused of betraying U S Maj Gen William F. Dean into Communist captivity. The pair received $5 in Korean money from the Reds for the betrayal, national police headquarters said.

Dean, freed Friday after more than three years as a Red prisoner of war, is in Tokyo beginning two weeks treatment for amoebic dysentery contracted during his captivity.

Kim Chang Hung, assistant director of police, said the two men, both born in China, previously had been investigated in October, 1950 the second month after Dean's capture, then released but kept under surveillance.

They were arrested again Saturday night because "our previous investigations of them proved identical to Gen. Dean's own account of his capture," the police said.

Officers identified the men as Han Doo Kyoo, 40, and Choe Chong Bong, 24 he officers said a third suspect, Park Chong Kyoo, joined Red guerilla forces and was killed by South Korean police last year.

Michigan Pilot Captures Allison Award at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 110-mile jet race, a rendezvous between atom bombers flying nonstop from Japan and England, and an unscheduled helicopter collision —possibly the first in history—provided excitement at the second day of the National Aircraft Show Sunday.

Show officials estimated 100,000 persons attended the event at Dayton municipal airport

Capt. Forrest Wilson, 31, South Haven, Mich., from Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex., won the Allison Trophy race, a 110 13-mile simulated fighter "scrambie."

Interceptors Compete

Four Republic F84G Thunderjets took off from Weir Cook airport in Indianapolis at one-minute intervals in a race to intercept an imaginary enemy over Dayton.

Wilson flew a speed average of 537 802 miles an hour and elapsed time of 12 minutes 17 2 seconds. His average was about 57 miles an hour under the record for the event. Air Force spokesmen said this was because the race started on the ground instead of in the air.

The Allison Trophy race is sponsored by the Allison Division of General Motors which produces engines for the F84.

Eight Boeing B47 bombers from Fairford, England and two Convair B36s from a base near Tokyo arrived simultaneously at 3·12 p m. The six-jet B47s, world's fastest known bombers, refueled twice in midair on the 5,000-mile 10-hour flight—off Scotland and after reaching the United States.

Informed sources said a separate investigation is under way to determine whether there is a "leak" in the Navy Department.

This first probe into alleged influence peddling and information leakage under the Eisenhower administration was made in June and July by a House armed services subcommittee.

Greek Quakes Rock Corinth Area, 15 Hurt

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Earth tremors rocked central Greece Sunday for the second successive day. They damaged 80 buildings in the Corinth area. Fifteen persons were reported injured at nearby Isthmia, where yesterday's shocks centered

Yesterday's shocks extended from the west coast of the Peloponesus across the country to Khalkis, on the island of Evvoia 35 miles north of Athens. About 50 old houses were destroyed at Isthmia, four miles southeast of Corinth.

The damage from today's quakes centered at Aghioi Theordoroi and at Perachora, both in the Corinth area. Three churches were damaged. The Corinth canal has been closed to navigation for several days because of cracks at many points.

The latest tremors came in the wake of last month's disastrous earthquakes in the Ionian Islands off Greece's west coast, where about 1,000 persons were killed, hundreds more were injured, and about 130,000 were left homeless.

U.S. Airmen Tortured To Confess

POWs Describe Germ Warfare Hoax

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Monday, Sept 7 (AP)—Freed American airmen began unfolding Sunday the gruesome, inside story of how Chinese Reds perpetrated the Korean War's biggest hoax—germ warfare "confessions" — by tortures carried on long after the truce was signed

The Chinese were still at it as late as 4 30 a.m yesterday — about five hours before the last group of Americans started toward freedom.

The story is one of maggots crawling on untreated wounds Its a story of threats to keep a long suffering prisoner from returning to his loved ones until he signed.

But it is only a fragmentary beginning of the horror-etched full account

Six of the "confessed" airmen who came out to Freedom Sunday — held back until the last day — wouldn't talk right away.

Two were marked "No Press" by examining doctors who said they were in no condition to tell about their experiences now.

Those who would talk said they were abused and threatened for day on day beyond all physical endurance. One still retained enough of his wits to insert in his "confession" a dead giveaway that his statement was a fraud.

Psychological Move

On an Asiatic continent where repeated plagues have made them one of the chief sources of dread, the Chinese Reds began building up the germ warfare hoax soon after they entered the Korean War late in 1950.

They are still at it. Sunday the Peiping Red radio broadcast the names of 25 U. S. airmen who "honestly confessed" the crimes. Peiping said the 25 had been "pardoned."

The Chinese insisted, in the face of repeated and indignant denials by highest U. S. governmental and military officials, that airmen dropped disease-spreading insects on Korea.

Two of the highest ranking U. S. Air Force officers captured by the Reds said Sunday after their release that they held out until two weeks after the armistice was signed on July 27. But the Reds made them backdate their "confessions" to last May.

Another Flyer Tortured

Yet another airman, 2nd Lt Richard G. Voss, of Osborne, Kan., was captured July 17, 1952 questioned daily until his release yesterday, and "confessed" only after Red doctors stood by while maggots crawled over his untreated wounds."

"The way they handled me, they let the maggots do it," the 24-year-old flier said.

The maggots wriggled on his burned flesh and crawled down his right ear.

It was Voss who said the Reds still were after "confessions" as late as 4 30 a.m. yesterday.

The Reds labelled Voss a "war criminal" and threatened to take him to Red China for trial.

The two highest ranking Air Force men freed yesterday by the Reds were Col Walker M Mahurin, 34, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Col. Andrew J. Evans Jr., of Montgomery, Ala.

The Reds were "just about as cruel as they could be," said Col. Mahurin.

Depends On Individual

"It depends on the individual how long he can fight the problem. You can look at Andy's face and see what he's been through"

The colonel nodded toward wan-faced Col Evans, deputy commander of the 58th Fighter-Bomber Wing of the 5th Air Force.

The Reds wouldn't even tell Mahurin the armistice had been signed until after he "confessed" on Aug. 10. The Reds backdated his statement to May 10.

As late as Aug. 30, Mahurin had to write an undated statement.

Alan Winnington, English-born correspondent for the London Daily Worker, sat in on military tribunals and helped with the questioning, Mahurin said.

The "confessions" came back

W. L. Stephenson Is Cited in Testimony To House Investigators

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators have heard testimony that an official of President Eisenhower's inaugural committee tried to get a "four per center" job by quoting classified information about a million dollar Navy contract, it was reliably reported Sunday.

Informed sources said a separate investigation is under way to determine whether there is a "leak" in the Navy Department.

Began in June

This first probe into alleged influence peddling and information leakage under the Eisenhower administration was made in June and July by a House armed services subcommittee.

Sources familiar with the course of the inquiry identified the political figure as Warren L. Stephenson, who was executive secretary of the Eisenhower inaugural committee.

They said Stephenson quoted bid

Greek Quakes Rock Corinth Area, 15 Hurt

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Earth tremors rocked central Greece Sunday for the second successive day. They damaged 80 buildings in the Corinth area. Fifteen persons were reported injured at nearby Isthmia, where yesterday's shocks centered.

Yesterday's shocks extended from the west coast of the Peloponesus across the country to Khalkis, on the island of Evvoia 35 miles north of Athens. About 50 old houses were destroyed at Isthmia, four miles southeast of Corinth.

The damage from today's quakes centered at Aghioi Theordoroi and at Perachora, both in the Corinth area. Three churches were damaged. The Corinth canal has been closed to navigation for several days because of cracks at many points.

The latest tremors came in the wake of last month's disastrous earthquakes in the Ionian Islands off Greece's west coast, where about 1,000 persons were killed, hundreds more were injured, and about 130,000 were left homeless.

West Victory Bitter Blow To Moscow

Communist Party Routed; 26 Million Voters Trek To Polls

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—Pro-American Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won a landslide election victory today, West Germany voted to rearm with the West, rejected Socialist neutralism, routed the Communist Party, and smashed an attempted Nazi comeback.

It was a political disaster for Moscow, and a triumph for Washington.

A mammoth turnout of 26 million of 33 million eligible voters gave an overwhelming endorsement to Adenauer's policy of contributing German manpower and resources to the military defense of the free world.

The Socialists, who opposed rearmament and sought to appease the Soviets by a program of unarmed neutrality, were soundly trounced.

Complete unofficial returns from 116 out of 242 West German election districts totaled 19,238,708 valid votes. The distribution among major parties.

Christian Democrats (CDU), 4,611,205; Social Democrats (SPD), 2,865,194; Free Democrats (FDP) 1,070,928; German Party (DP), 387,039; Refugee Party (BHE), 646,766; Communists (KPD), 205,653; German Reich Party (DRP), 96,850; All-German Peoples Party (GVP), 121,011.

Sharp vigilance by West German authorities prevented a feared outbreak by Reds thuns from East Germany who spent Sunday in jail instead of molesting voters as the government charged they were ordered to do by Moscow.

The election took place in a calm, violence-free atmosphere.

Another late election issue—endorsement of Adenauer by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles which Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer denounced as interference in the German election—apparently did Adenauer no harm.

The election shaped up as a thundering victory for the chancellor and his vigorous policy of close ties with the West.

Throughout the campaign he called for support for his project to provide German troops for the common defense of Europe.

Unofficial vote totals showed the people agreed. The opposition Socialists, led by the mild Ollenhauer, couldn't cope with the Christian Democrats.

Even in districts where Socialists had held first rank traditionally, Adenauer's party made strong headway. Such a place was the city of Frankfurt which swung from the Socialists to the Christian Democrats.

The Socialist policy of neutralism and rejection of the western alliance apparently backfired when nearly 26 million out of 33,200,000 eligible voters cast their ballots.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats have ruled West Germany since the country set up its first postwar national government in 1949. Burgeoning returns showed them likely to continue to do so in alliance with their coalition parties, the Free Democrats and the German Party. These three groups polled well over the 50 per cent required to control the new 484-member Parliament.

The socialists were still second, but a weaker second than in the last Parliament.

The voters choice was plain:

1. Endorsement of free enterprise and the Western alliance.

2. Rejection of Socialism and unarmed neutrality.

The Communists got nowhere. Their chief, Max Reimann, lost his bid for reelection to Parliament and they seemed certain of losing the 14 seats they held in the old house.

Remann was defeated by a Christian Democrat in what had

Michigan Pilot Captures Allison Award at Dayton

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Aviation Writer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 110-mile jet race, a rendezvous between atom bombers flying nonstop from Japan and England, and an unscheduled helicopter collision —possibly the first in history—provided excitement at the second day of the National Aircraft Show Sunday.

Show officials estimated 100,000 persons attended the event at Dayton municipal airport.

Capt. Forrest Wilson, 31, South Haven, Mich., from Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex., won the Allison Trophy race, a 110 13-mile simulated fighter "scramble."

Interceptors Compete

Four Republic F84G Thunderjets took off from Weir Cook airport in Indianapolis at one-minute intervals in a race to intercept an imaginary enemy over Dayton.

Wilson flew a speed average of 537.802 miles an hour and elapsed time of 12 minutes 17.2 seconds. His average was about 57 miles an hour under the record for the event. Air Force spokesmen said this was because the race started on the ground instead of in the air.

The Allison Trophy race is sponsored by the Allison Division of General Motors which produces engines for the F84.

Eight Boeing B47 bombers from Fairford, England and two Convair B36s from a base near Tokyo arrived simultaneously at 3:12 p.m. The six-jet B47s, world's fastest known bombers, refueled twice in midair on the 5,000-mile 10-hour flight—off Scotland and after reaching the United States.

Make Flight In 33 Hours

The 10-engine B36s made their 6,750-mile flight in 33 hours without refueling.

All the armed services displayed their air might at the show. Near the end of the Marine part of the

U.S. Airmen Tortured To Confess

POWs Describe Germ Warfare Hoax

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Monday, Sept. 7 (AP)—Freed American airmen began unfolding Sunday the gruesome, inside story of how Chinese Reds perpetrated the Korean War's biggest hoax—germ warfare "confessions" — by tortures carried on long after the truce was signed.

The Chinese were still at it as late as 4.30 a.m yesterday — about five hours before the last group of Americans started toward freedom.

The story is one of maggots crawling on untreated wounds. Its a story of threats to keep a long suffering prisoner from returning to his loved ones until he signed.

But it is only a fragmentary beginning of the horror-etched full account.

Six of the "confessed" airmen who came out to Freedom Sunday — held back until the last day — wouldn't talk right away.

Two were marked "No Press" by examining doctors who said they were in no condition to tell about their experiences now.

Those who would talk said they were abused and threatened for day on day beyond all physical endurance. One still retained enough of his wits to insert in his "confession" a dead giveaway that his statement was a fraud.

Psychological Move

On an Asiatic continent where repeated plagues have made them one of the chief sources of dread, the Chinese Reds began building up the germ warfare hoax soon after they entered the Korean War late in 1950.

They are still at it. Sunday the Peiping Red radio broadcast the names of 25 U. S. airmen who "honestly confessed" the crimes. Peiping said the 25 had been "pardoned."

The Chinese insisted, in the face of repeated and indignant denials by highest U. S. governmental and military officials, that airmen dropped disease-spreading insects on Korea.

Two of the highest ranking U. S. Air Force officers captured by the Reds said Sunday after their release that they held out until two weeks after the armistice was signed on July 27. But the Reds made them backdate their "confessions" to last May.

Another Flyer Tortured

Yet another airman, 2nd Lt Richard G. Voss, of Osborne, Kan., was captured July 17, 1952 questioned daily until his release yesterday, and "confessed" only after Red doctors stood by while maggots crawled over his untreated wounds."

"The way they handled me, they let the maggots do it," the 24-year-old flier said.

The maggots wriggled on his burned flesh and crawled down his right ear.

It was Voss who said the Reds still were after "confessions" as late as 4:30 a.m. yesterday.

The Reds labelled Voss a "war criminal" and threatened to take him to Red China for trial.

The two highest ranking Air Force men freed yesterday by the Reds were Col. Walker M. Mahurin, 34, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Col. Andrew J. Evans Jr., of Montgomery, Ala.

The Reds were "just about as cruel as they could be," said Col. Mahurin.

Depends On Individual

"It depends on the individual how long he can fight the problem. You can look at Andy's face and see what he's been through."

The colonel nodded toward wan-faced Col. Evans, deputy commander of the 58th Fighter-Bomber Wing of the 5th Air Force.

The Reds wouldn't even tell Mahurin the armistice had been signed until after he "confessed" on Aug. 10. The Reds backdated his statement to May 10.

As late as Aug. 30, Mahurin had to write an undated statement.

Alan Winnington, English-born correspondent for the London Daily Worker, sat in on military tribunals and helped with the questioning, Mahurin said.

The "confessions" came back

Hinklin Begins Fourth Term As Treasurer

Marion E. Hinklin begins his fourth term as treasurer of Marion County today. Although it is a legal holiday, the renewal of his term of office becomes effective that date

Unlike most elected officials whose terms begin in January following elections, county treasurers' do not take office for almost a year after balloting. This is because of the need for a clearing up of the business hanging over the treasurer's office at that time of year.

January is one of the months when real estate taxes are collected. A change in personnel at that time could lead to confusion, Hinklin explained.

Elected to a four-year term, Hinklin is responsible for any funds handled by all county offices He estimates that about $6,000,000 will pass through his office this year

Since September, 1941, when he started in his first term as treasurer, Hinklin has been charged with the duty of handling all real estate taxes, personal property tax sales tax, as well as the funds collected by other county offices

Persons buying dog licenses or any other documents, pay the office which handles that particular item. At the end of each month, all money received by those offices is handed over to Hinklin's office for proper recording

He is in charge of collecting, holding, and recording all funds coming into the county. He also disburses to various departments the money needed by them for maintenance and operation

Hinklin is assisted in his work by four deputies. Chief deputy is Mrs Maryanna Stafford. Other deputies on his staff are Mrs Idella Hieninger, Mrs Frances Lessig, and Miss Annetta Harty.

MARION E. HINKLIN

The treasurer is married and has a seven-year-old son, Robert. His present term will run until the first Monday in September, 1957.

Millpond Algae Help California Agriculture

RIVERSIDE, Calif (UP) — The simple type of algae found in millponds is being used today to increase the agricultural yield in California.

University of California scientists at the Riverside campus use the simple cells in their preliminary tests and thus bypass the old-fashioned method of chopping up leaves to obtain plant cells

Once a theory is proved on the alga, it can be applied to the cells of citrus trees and other commercial plants.

Schools Open, Traffic Safety Tune Is Needed

With the opening of city schools tomorrow, Marion's "September Song" should be in tune with traffic safety by motorists, bicyclists, and pedestrians young and old, Police Chief Tom Coon said today.

The best pedestrian safety record in Ohio is by elementary school age groups. This provides an example of what may be accomplished when education and enforcement are coordinated, he said.

If all other age groups could match this record there would be far fewer pedestrian injuries, he explained. Usually, the only times younger school children violate safety rules are when they forget because interest is centered in play or a companion, or because of imitation of adult examples. "If adults walk properly, the children often follow suit," Coon added.

Pointing out that a child is not responsible in law or fact, Coon said local drivers may play a major role in child pedestrian safety.

Every child should be regarded as a moving stop sign and every motorist should be certain he can obey the sign if it suddenly appears in front of his car, Coon said. This means driving below the legal speed limit which is 25 miles an hour on all but main thoroughfares, he added.

Cautioning the small-fry that the streets are poor play grounds, Chief Coon said, "You can't play tag or chase a football in the street and see an approaching automobile."

Bicycles are classed as vehicles in Ohio law and as such must obey traffic laws. For safety's sake bicycle riders should ride as near the right hand curb as possible, stop before riding into the street from a driveway, and have a white light at the front and a red light or reflector at the rear of their bikes for night riding, Coon said.

In a note of warning to motorists, he said that drivers must still stop 10 feet away from a school bus stopped to load or unload passengers. Only change in this rule will come on Oct. 2 when it will no longer be necessary to stop for a school bus if approaching it from the opposite direction on a divided highway.

With days growing shorter, Coon also requested local drivers to make more use of their headlights during the evening hours. Contrary to popular use, parking lamps do not adequately illuminate the roadway ahead, he explained. This, added to the fact most people wear darker clothing in fall and winter, makes it more difficult to see pedestrians.

Local motorists are also guilty of failure to give the right of way to pedestrian traffic, Coon said. He pointed out that all other traffic has the right of way over vehicles making a turn at an intersection.

The best accident preventative is a light foot on the accelerator, Chief Coon said. "You won't loose near as much time by careful driving compared with the time it takes to fill out an accident report," he added.

BERMUDA SHORTS GET DULLES OK. R. Leonard Miall, Washington correspondent for the British Broadcasting Corp., chats with John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, after the newsman attended the secretary's press conference togged in Brmuda shorts. Mr. Dulles said he approves of the shorts in hot weather—but not for American men. Dulles added that English knees seem to be different from American knees.

Wyandot County was originally allotted three scholarships but when the quota for the state was not filled by the Sept. 1 deadline, a reallocation gave the county three additional scholarships.

Those receiving the scholarships are Shirley Ann Pickett of Wharton; Elnora Ruth Bear of Marseilles; and Rosalie Letitia Swinehart, Margaret Jeanette Swartz, Meriam Louise Krichbaum and Donna Lou Lind, all of Upper Sandusky.

The screening committee was headed by Oman, while other members were Supt. Harold U. Cope of Upper Sandusky, and Cloyce Wentling of Carey.

Edward T. Talbot acted as toastmaster and called on various employes and guests. Remarks were made by Acting Postmaster T. O. Nelson, Talbott, Paul Hayes, F. M. Tester and Smith.

Music during the evening was furnished by Starling Poth, local mail carrier, and his two daughters, Joyce and Carol. Brenda Peterson gave several tap dances.

On behalf of the group, Smith was presented a pen. The remainder of the evening was spent informally. T. O. Nelson was general chairman of the affair. Donald Simmermacher, Clayton Histed and Milo Wachs composed the committee on arrangements.

Mother, Daughter Cited for Heroism In Dayton Rescue

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An attractive 40-year-old Dayton mother and her blonde 18-year-old daughter were cited Sunday for heroism in the rescue of two Air Force captains from a burning bomber.

Mrs. John E. Zimmerman and her daughter, Darlene, received citations from the Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott for pulling two men from a B25 bomber which crashed near their home on the outskirts of Dayton, Aug. 21.

The presentation ceremony was held as part of the National Aircraft Show program at Dayton's municipal airport.

The huge plane exploded just a few seconds after the men were freed from the flaming wreckage.

In part, the citation said of the dark-haired mother:

"With selfless disregard for her own safety, she forcibly removed the pilot's escape hatch from the flaming aircraft, freed the first pilot and removed him from the wreckage."

Her daughter aided in the rescue of the other officer, and three neighbor friends -- Dan Warner, Vernon Wheeler and Marion Miller—helped pry loose debris so the second man could be removed.

A newsman asked Mrs. Zimmerman if receiving the citation was the biggest thrill of her life.

"It seems that way," she answered, "but when I look back to that day, I guess the biggest thrill was when we got away from the explosion."

The two pilots rescued from the crash are Capt. John Saxon of Fort Valley, Ga., and Capt. Hubert Pederson of Iowa, both stationed at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Sardine Rice Puff Makes Unusual Casserole

When reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic once more take precedence over bathing suit, rod and reel, most families will find themselves again following that "three-meal-a-day" routine. After the casual living of summer it may prove to be difficult to put your mind on the more substantial kind of food that is called for by cooler days, so this casserole is planned purposely to start you thinking along those lines once again.

The sardine-rice casserole is an unusual combination, but don't let this keep you from trying it, for in the eating it's sure to convince you that you can't judge a recipe by reading alone. The fluffiness of the rice combined with the meringue-like topping provides a texture contrast that is but one of the distinguishing features of this casserole.

SARDINE RICE PUFF

Ingredients: 1 1/3 cups packaged precooked rice, 1½ cups water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 box quick-frozen green peas, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cans sardines, cut in pieces, 2 tomatoes, sliced, 1 egg white, ¾ cup mayonnaise.

Method: Combine rice, water and salt in saucepan Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork Do not stir Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook peas as directed on package. Combine rice, peas and butter, mix, add sardines and blend. Turn in 1½-quart greased baking dish. Arrange tomato slices over top; sprinkle with salt and pepper, brush with melted butter. Place under broiler 8 to 10 minutes, or until tomatoes are lightly browned

Meanwhile, beat egg white until it will stand in soft peaks. Fold in mayonnaise, blending thoroughly. Spread on top of tomatoes and return to broiler for 2 minuttes, or until topping is golden brown. Serves six.

Labor's Era

In 1882 when the first Labor Day was marked in New York City with a parade of men willing to forego a day's wages, organized labor was insecure.

All labor was insecure. It was regarded as no more than a commodity to be made available for industrial production on terms dictated by operators of the factories, mills, mines and shops.

The Knights of Labor, first organized in 1896 as a secret organization, had been challenged by a new organization, the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions. This proved to be too political for the taste of laboring men. It was to be succeeded in 1886 by the American Federation of Labor.

Organized labor gradually outgrew the anarchy and radicalism in which it had its beginning and became an association of industrial craftsmen with the purpose of improving the condition of workers. Samuel Gompers provided the statesmanship which lifted it above the level of a merely political movement and established it as a combination of free workers dedicated to advance the dignity of labor.

Labor's era in the United States began in earnest early in the 20th century.

All other labor organizations stemmed from that inauspicious beginning in the closing years of the 19th century. But in 1953 it is plain that something even greater than organized labor stemmed from hard-won recognition of the dignity of labor.

The United States has created a new kind of society based on the dignity of labor — a society in which the ultimate dignity of all men is productive work.

Machinery has eased the burden of toil which once lay heavily on the backs of laboring men and women. Enlightened selfishness has enabled them to share in the benefits of their own production.

Economic reality has given the producers of goods in the United States the world's highest standard of living — so they can be consumers as well as producers.

The United States has accomplished miracles but no miracle as great as this bestowal of rights and dignities on workers.

They possess it in no other country and can hope to win it nowhere else except by revolution

Human Rights in U.N.

It is right and proper that Americans should be unalterably opposed to the Communist conspiracy wherever it appears.

This has been a hard lesson to learn—but Americans have learned it, the hard way. They know now they must be as ruthless in dealing with the conspiracy as the conspirators will be in dealing with them.

But there is danger of confusing ruthlessness against Communists and ruthlessness against the rights of persons who may have been falsely accused of being Communists.

The danger seems to have arisen in at least one of the cases of U.N. employes fired by Trygve Lie when he was secretary - general In this case, a woman who had joined, then resigned from, the Communist party in 1935 and 1936 and had revealed this to the FBI before accepting employment with the U.N was fired, along with 21 others, for being a Communist.

A recommendation by the U.N administrative tribunal that she and 8 others be reinstated is under advisement. The tribunal believes 11 of the employes were fired with cause and recommends additional study of one case.

The tribunal's position has been seized as an excuse to blast the U N. for giving aid and comfort to the Communist conspiracy. The excuse is flimsy. All the tribunal has done is recommend that no human being who works for the U.N. should be fired for any reason which cannot be supported by evidence.

It Never Fails

Mrs. Luce, our charming ambassador to Italy, fouled up an Italian election a while back by fingering the candidate the United States wanted to win, but Secretary of State Dulles should have known better.

The reaction from his statement that the United States wants Konrad Adenauer to win in the West German election was bad — all bad It never has been good The one formula that never fails for fouling up a political contest is to let it be known that foreigners have nibbed in Every child in the United States past the age of six knows this to be true. The only reason that American politicians continue to do it is because they lack the political know-how of six-year-old children. Politicians, apparently, are born, not made

Among honest voters, an election is a personal process of making a choice The instinctive response to elbowing is to retaliate in kind

Chancellor Adenauer continues to be the favorite to win the West German election. But Secretary Dulles pulled a king-size diplomatic boner by nibbing into what is supposed to be a free election. Many Germans will give the United States the elbow out of sheer pride of be the easiest way.

nationality—and a vote against Adenauer will

'Winds of Freedom'

By Norman Lyndhurst

Food, Ammunition Could Follow Leaflet Barrage

MUNICH You might think a balloon—an ordinary balloon only slightly larger than those at the fair—was a strange weapon to use against the Russians.

It is balloons however — thousands of them — which the Americans are using to spread propaganda behind the Iron Curtain. The operation is called (approximately, as far as the balloons' driving power is concerned) "Operation Winds of Freedom" — and it is all so disarmingly simple that one wonders why it wasn't dreamed up sooner.

Briefly, the American recipe is as follows: Take 50,000 balloons, inflate them with hydrogen. Stuff them with 12,000,000 bitingly anti-Red leaflets, set them loose and let the wind do the rest.

Eventually the balloons either puncture or, their hydrogen exhausted, come to rest behind the Iron Curtain. With 2,000 miles of Iron Curtain, 500,000 balloons, and 12,000,000 messages, to play with, you can't miss.

"Winds of Freedom" is financed by the "Crusade for Freedom"—an organization of wealthy Americans who support the Radio Free Europe network of broadcasting stations beamed at the Iron Curtain.

A specially constructed truck and caravan train is used to launch the balloons. To insure maximum secrecy, the balloons are sent aloft under cover of darkness at points picked only a few hours before "L-hour" — the launching hour—and known only to the truck's crew.

Several hundred balloons thus are released every night when there is a westerly wind blowing. A staff of meteorologists gives the launching crew a precise "fix" on wind drift in various areas and, armed with these data, the crew then selects the exact launching site, usually in a clearing in an expanse of thick forest.

The hours just after nightfall are best for balloon release. Darkness makes it all but impossible for the Communist authorities to track the balloons.

By daybreak, as a rule, the balloons have long since reached the target area and released their cargoes of anti-Soviet propaganda leaflets.

Two types of balloons are used in this freedom barrage. One is an ordinary rubber balloon, which explodes at high altitudes; the other a plastic balloon which descends slowly with its load by means of a timing device regulating the hydrogen supply.

The rubber balloon is employed for "saturation bombing," spewing pamphlets from high altitudes over an area covering hundreds of square miles. But the plastic balloon, with amazing accuracy, can pinpoint a target of only a few miles, given suitable atmospheric conditions.

In most cases Iron Curtain police never see the balloons. They find only scattered copies of dog-eared leaflets — leaflets that usually have passed through a dozen hands before reaching the police.

Obviously, the crux of this entire propaganda stunt is not merely getting leaflets — any kind of leaflets — into the hands of rebellious Czechs and Poles. The leaflets have got to hit the psychological, as well as geographic, bull's-eye.

The Crusade for Freedom believes that it is doing just that. Typical propaganda material stuffed into the balloons includes such references as:

"Power lies with the people, and the people stand opposed to the government . . .

"Organize your strength with unity and courage! Down with collectives! Demand workers' rights. Today demand concessions. Tomorrow—freedom. . .

"Other captive peoples are uniting and will join you in your struggle. The free world is with you."

The implication of many messages is that one day the signal will come from the West for an armed uprising against the Russians. The Crusade for Freedom denies that this is necessarily the true significance of these messages, but the impression persists. It is this facet of the balloon "Freedom Barrage" that worries responsible American officials in Germany.

Already there is discussion by the Crusade for Freedom of employing the "balloon airlift" to get the American gift of $14,000,000 worth of food in the mouths of hungry East Germans.

Now has the Crusade for Freedom yet refuted what seems to be the simple truth that balloons which can lift bundles of leaflets across the Iron Curtain could also lift light weapons—a few at a time.

If you were to employ 50,000 balloons, as is being done in "Operation Winds of Freedom," you could use them just as well to lift 100,000 or even 200,000 thousand rifles, pistols and light machine guns.

In Self Defense

By Frank Tripp

They'll be going home soon, back to school, but right now they are all here on the beach, yelling their heads off—swell accompaniment for a writer guy who has a deadline to meet

The beach is right under my desk window, it's two thirds Jim Peery's, one third ours. The confusion is not confined to riparian rights. There are 80 miles of shoreline around Seneca Lake. This report concerns a measly 100 feet of it; home base for two dozen kids, 2 to 12.

THE INVENTORY for that 100 feet this morning is: 21 people, mostly kids; four dogs, one as big as a calf; five boats, one raft, one beach fire, assorted chairs, benches, inner tubes, life preservers, water wings, beach togs, blown up rubber fish, seals and dragons; oars, paddles, and those inevitable lethal beach items—two eight quart pails.

Now arrives another, Marnie Perry, Jim's wife She's an optimist; brings her swimming gear She looks for a place to sit down. Her chairs are filled with squatters and the kids have a fire where her beach mat belongs. She settles for a jump into the lake. Fifteen crazy kids follow, force her ashore. Anyway, now she gets a chair.

FUNNY HOW every time an adult wants to swim the water is full of splashing kids and their gadgets; then when you just want to sit, the water is deserted and there isn't an unoccupied foot of beach on which to relax.

Somehow you wheedle a chair when along comes a wild Indian with a pail of water, chasing a screaming girl to douse her. He misses his mark and lets you have it; on the shirtfront if you are a full dressed male, or over a new permanent if you're a woman

You declare some sort of futile war, which is about as senseless as Jordan declaring against Russia. Either you compromise on complete appeasement or pick up your playthings and retreat homeward.

Never does a kid retreat. The best you get is a faint and insincere, "I'm sorry." The little devil isn't sorry at all In a few minutes he's back with another pailful.

THAT'S HAPPENING right now. Marnie got her dander up; tired of eating smoke, ordered the beach fire extinguished before it burned up a boat Here comes the pails again, emptied partly on the fire but mostly "by accident" on the assemblage, their parked shoes and clothing

Finally Marnie gives up She picks up her kit and by a circuitous route, climbing over heads of tots and piles of paraphernalia, she eventually reaches the house. What she said to herself, once within the walls of her domicile, deponent knoweth not; but does know what gems he would have unleashed.

Other adults miraculously sense Marnie's cue, gather up their small fry and decamp. The demons, 6 to 12, who raised all the hell, now have things to themselves.

YOU'D EXPECT that they'd forthwith throw the furniture in the lake, tear down the dock, maybe set fire to the house. Not on your life. With no one to pester, there's no attraction on the beach

They retire to alarm you from a distance. They jump into outboards, form an armada, chase each other all over the cove, all but upset a dozen times and scare the liver out of you. The beach, from which the tots and their tenders have been driven by the Huns, becomes as quiet and deserted as Coney Island in January.

THUS THINGS remain until Jim Perry returns from a day's work, eager for a rest and a swim. In comes the fleet of marine daredevils, and from the hills like flies re-assemble their landlocked pals—to put on their beach show for Jim.

After they have driven him into the house or to mid-lake fishing to escape them, that considerable part of the rioters who are of our own tribe raid Anna and her refrigeration.

They end up by cashing our cocktail hour, demanding soft drinks; seldom failing to eat up the hors d'oeuvres like they were oyster crackers.

Next summer there's going to be a "Grownup Hour"—at least one—somewhere around sunset, when we cannot see, hear, smell or sense, a kid, a dog or an outboard:

Or, by golly, I won't be here!

Rome New Mecca of American Tourist

By Melton S. Davis

ROME Ever since the end of World War II, Americans have been coming to Rome, falling in love with it and seeking ways to stay on in the Eternal City.

Though prices are comparatively higher than they were in Paris after World War 1, there's little doubt that the Italian capital is eclipsing Paris as the new mecca for Americans in Europe.

Right now there are something like 8,000 Americans in the city. Of these fewer than 500 work in the Embassy or at other U.S. government agencies Recent cuts will diminish this total even more. Another 200 study medicine at the University of Rome. About 60 are here on Fulbright scholarships, 30 study painting, archaeology, and music at the American Academy, and eight hold scholarships awarded by the Italian government.

Italy's unemployment problem means work restrictions for Americans. Besides, opportunities are fewer. Rome has only a tenth of the U S. business outfits which have made Paris their headquarters for decades.

But Americans still find means to prolong their stay. Three English language publications provide employment for an even dozen.

Some find jobs in Italy's movie industry, which claims to be the first in world production. In the first seven months of this year, 105 films were turned out.

Many had American actors such as Frank Lattimore, Marc Lawrence, John Kitzmiller and Paul Campbell. Actresses Virginia Belmont, Lois Maxwell and Cindy Ames live here permanently. Miss Ames, who is from Los Angeles soon is to marry longtime Rome resident George Salerno from California. Salerno was a reporter for Stars and Stripes during the war.

Working at Rome's Cinecitta Studios is Steve Barclay, who made Westerns in Hollywood. Another actor, Charlie Fawcett of North Carolina, has asked to give up his American citizenship so that he can become an Italian.

About 60 American earn enough to live on by being members of the Anglo-American Dubbers Association. This nonprofit organization was set up in October 1949 by two Italians and 12 Americans to provide voices for dubbing Italian films into English.

Recently the purchase of 30-odd Italian films for American television has meant additional months of work for the members

More new films for American television are being produced here than in Paris It looks as if Rome will become the European TV center Two companies are working in full blast with a third to start soon.

Americans are used for almost all the roles A former model, Betty Metcalfe, is appearing in television shorts, as is Michael Tor of Illinois, who once sang at La Scala.

Many veterans started studying Italian under the GI bill and then moved on to other fields. Gene Sullivan, after working on The Rome Daily American, went to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, which employs a score or so Americans.

New Yorker Pete Plasierca, after finishing his GI schooling takes tourists around in his tiny French Renault car, because he wants to stay on and paint. a midwest sculptor, here to study, once his GI bill of rights ran out, gave lessons to newcomers.

It is due to former GIs that American baseball has taken hold on the peninsula.

The manager of one of Rome's two Italian baseball teams is Kenneth Opstein, a former sports writer now working for USIS. The other team is trained by Joe Lubas, who is Transocean Airlines agent here and also runs an import business

Rome's growing importance as a world center has meant more competition for jobs. In most world capitals, a fixed amount of positions exist for Americans. Two U.S. airlines, TWA and Pan-American, take some on their staffs.

Many have made their own jobs. One American started a rental agency, another a laundry, a third a garage. Others do publicity for films, and one is a bouncer in a night club. An American Army officer who decided to remain here after the war makes a living buying war scrap, wrecked ships and cars, and disposing it advantageously.

The feminine contingent does all right too. Attractive Jerry Quigg of Richmond, Ind., is Rome's only female professional photographer, taking photographs for American magazines. Tall Audrey McDonald O'Gorman is one of the most-sought after models in the country.

Another American woman translates letters from Italina children to their American foster parents.

A few U.S. pensioners are here to spend their declining years. But not because it's less expensive. "I just like to live in Italy," said one, a former postal employe. "I have to watch my expenses. It costs me about the same as it would in the States. Only I get more for my money here. After all, I can go to the opera for 150 lire (25 cents).

Another said, "Thousands of Americans save for months to come to Italy for a few weeks. I live here all year round and save the travel expense."

Work was no stranger to Orren Messenger, an early resident of Big Island Township. He was born May 29, 1822 at Marietta. As a young man of 28 he cradled five acres of oats in a single day; another day he cut three acres of timothy. He was never excelled in mowing, outstripping the noted "Tommy Smith." It is said he never found the man who could keep up raking and binding after him He split 300 rails in one day and sheared 80 sheep in the same length of time. His average was shearing 50 sheep a day.

"Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end." Isaiah 9:7. Barbarous tribes are constantly at war The western hemisphere had fewer people than a modern city of the third class when Columbus landed. Kindergarten Protest

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—A protest movement has started here against the Government plan to cancel the free "Compulsory Kindergarten" for five year olds. The Minister of Finance believes that the cut would mean a considerable saving on teachers' salaries hitherto paid by the State

A "Save the Kindergarten Committee" representing 10,000 parents and 103 Kindergartens has been set up to convince the Government of the social disadvantages that would be caused by the closing of the "Compulsory Kindergartens" probably forcing children back on the streets as many parents couldn't afford the fees demanded in private kindergartens.

Income Tax Door-to-Door Visit

That current door-to-door check by Internal Revenue agents reached Elmer Twitchell's residence yesterday morning. "Who's there?" asked Elmer as he heard the knock.

"The tax man," came the answer.

"You don't understand," the man said. "I'm from the Internal Revenue Office."

"We subscribed to that magazine. You'll have to see the people next door about working your way through college."

"I'm through college declared the revenue man, who was getting pretty impatient, as he had a lot more knocking to do to meet his knock quote.

This was enough to bring Elmer downstairs. It was the first time a college graduate stranger had knocked on the door in years.

"I have a simple question," said the revenue man. "Have you paid your federal income tax?"

"Would you mind repeating that question?" said Elmer, who needed time to reconnoiter.

"Have you paid your income tax?" the man repeated.

"That's a nice way to start a man's day!" said Mr. Twitchell. Why this personal visit? Isn't your phone working!"

"This is a door-to-door check to remind taxpayers in case the tax has slipped their minds," said the man. "Some people are forgetful"

"Not me. I have a memory like an elephant and I recall distinctly paying my tax. Drop in again some time."

"I will have to see your receipt or check stub," said the man.

"You'll hear from me in a couple of months," said Elmer

"That won't do," said the tax man.

"I'm a citizen," countered Elmer indignantly. "You can't treat me like a...like...like a..."

"Like a what?" asked the tax man.

"Like a citizen," mumbled Elmer. "Like a citizen who can't find his check stubs in a hurry"

"Be calm," said the tax man "I mean no disrespect. Distrust is not intended. All I am asking is whether you have paid your income tax and can show stubs. No prompting!"

-:-

Elmer had been on quiz programs before. "How long have I got"" he asked.

"Fifteen seconds"

"Ulysses Grant," replied Elmer.

"No," said the man. "I'm sorry. That's not the right answer. But you get a free trip to the tax office, all expenses paid, a year's supply of penalties and a new and exquisite brass knocker for front and rear doors."

"What?" cried Mrs. Twitchell from an upper window. "No aspirin?"

The Government Printing Office in Washington has suspended a worker who refused to tell a Senate committee whether or not he operated there as a race-track "bookie" It would seem to us that a Senator is entitled to that information just in case he wants to make a bet in a hurry. The printing office fellow refused to answer under the Fifth Amendment, but would appear that in his case the Fifth Amendment ran a bad Sixth if not Seventh.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

Robert A. Taft was gifted with a precise, logical mind and was always willing to face the facts, changing his position if the data on a subject convinced him that revision was called for. Therefore, even when the Taft - Hartley law was passed, he held that it was not to be sacrosanctly unchangeable.

Actually, the Congress appointed a watchdog committee to see how the law would work and to propose such amendments as might be necessary.

President Truman did not encourage changing the Taft-Hartley law because he had built it into a political target which he hoped might bring about his re-election.

The extremists in the labor unions wanted a return to the Wagner Act, which gave them organizational advantages. (The Wagner Act had been prepared by Lee Pressman, who has admitted that he had been a Communist.)

SEN. TAFT HAD written a series of amendments to strengthen the Taft-Hartley Law, but they never came before Congress.

However, shortly after his death, and as Congress was adjourning, that is, on August 3, a document appeared in some newspapers, purporting to be a message prepared by the White House, but not sent to Congress, calling for the revision of the Taft-Hartley law in such terms as to give the appearance that the President favored a reversion to the Wagner law.

The method of releasing this document was so peculiar that it created some wonderment as to its authorship. Thus far, President Eisenhower has neither repudiated the document nor claimed parentage for it.

During the session of the 83rd Congress, committees of both the Senate and the House held hearings on amendments to the Taft-Hartley Law.

ALTHOUGH THESE committees have not yet reported, it was obvious during the hearings that the committees favored strengthening, not weakening the law.

The Business Advisory Council also considered proposals for amendments. Secretary of Labor, Martin P. Durkin, under instructions from the White House, called a conference of industry and labor to consider amendments; this conference failed.

Because Durkin's conference failed, the White House requested the secretaries of labor and commerce to confer on the revision of the law with the hope that they could agree on a program that would show a united front within the administration. This came to nothing.

MEANWHILE, on the outside, a number of lawyers, representing industry and the American Federation of Labor, met privately to see whether they could, out of their experience, reach an agreement on amendments to the Taft-Hartley law.

I understand that at these conferences concessions were made by both sides.

However, the so-called White House message, sent not to Congress but given to certian newspapers, included a single concession to industry and 12 proposals which the American Federation of Labor lawyers had abandoned.

In a word, this White House message, sired by some unnamed person but not claimed or repudiated by President Eisenhower, goes further than the American Federation of Labor lawyers found necessary.

AN ANALYSIS of the White House message shows that there is not one provision which really benefits industry or the workers or any individual worker but that there are 19 recommendations which would enlarge the privileges, benefits and immunities of labor unions and their officers.

The closed shop is practically reinstated; the ban on the secondary boycott is weakened.

The right to throw this issue into the courts, by the process of the injunction, is restricted, thus making the labor union independent of the American judicial system.

This is, in effect, a reversion to the Wagner Ace.

One can go into this message point by point to show that whoever wrote it took an extremist position against industry and the individual worker, but favored the labor boss above all other Americans.

-:-

THE MESSAGE is obviously political, designed to win the support of certain labor leaders for the Republican party in the 1954 campaign.

It does not meet national interests; it is narrowly and immediately political.

Apparently it was long in preparation; yet its authors dared not send it to Congress while Sen. Taft was alive. He would have torn it to shreds on the floor of the Senate.

Should President Eisenhower send it to Congress in January, it can only mean a terrific fight that could split the Republicans and give rise to a third party. It is dangerous stuff.

BIRD TROUBLE. Roberta Martin, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin of Kansas City, Mo., feeds her pet robin a tomato worm. The friendship has led to a lot of difficulties around the Martin home, stemming from one peculiar fact: The bird won't go away. While searching along a fence for worms, Roberta fell, fracturing her arm in two places. That caused a family trip to Florida to be cancelled.

2 Young Chemists First To Produce Sugar by Synthesis

CHICAGO (AP) — Artificial sugar, a great chemical triumph, was announced Sunday by two young chemists.

It is the first time man has made synthetically what nature makes so easily—ordinary sugar or sucrose.

Sugar is a keystone of life. All the energy of the sun which is used by nature starts out as sugar, formed by plants by photosynthesis.

The sugar success was achieved by Dr. Raymond U. Lemieux, 33, a Canadian, and Dr. George Huber, 25, a Swiss, both working for the National Research Council of Canada. It was disclosed on the eve of the American Chemical Society's 124th national meeting opening today.

Many great chemists have tried to make sugar by chemical synthesis and failed. The success was likened to the climbing of a scientific Mr. Everest by Dr. Henry G. Hass, chemist-president of the Sugar Research Foundation.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The underworld is looking for a new labor relations man to protect a $30,000,000 operation—a "legal racket" which the mobs expected to expand into a $120,000,000-a-year business.

The crime combine is looking for a tough trouble - shooter because the latest shooting of hammer-fisted race track union tycoon Tommy Lewis — has gotten the big time gang bosses into trouble. The killing, pulled off by a stumblebum who didn't know enough to put a silencer on his iron and who was sufficiently stupid to pull the job five flights up in a crowded Bronx apartment house, alarmed the "respectable" self - policing mobs for two reasons.

RIESEL

The shooting proved to them that too many small unions have professional killers on their payrolls— a hangover from Lepke's Murder, Inc., days—who are now stepping out of line

And the bumbling assassination spotlighted the "legal" union insurance racket from which the neo-Mafia crowd, now handsomely tailored and meticulously manicured, are taking almost $30,000,000 in commissions on union insurance and welfare funds with a face value close to $5,000,000,000.

THE CRIME COMBINE wants nothing to interfere with its thoroughly successful invasion of the collectively bargained union welfare and insurance funds. The potential profit would put many a giant corporation to shame. No more than 25 per cent of organized labor is now insured. It would take an additional $15,000,000,000 in face value of new policies to cover the rest of labor in some 75,000 local unions. This could yield some $90,000,000 a year in commissions.

And it would all be legal. All the mobs need do, once they get control of sufficient unions, is to continue to set up their wives, sons, in-laws and fraternal mobsters as insurance brokers to place the business.

One Federal investigator who has ripped open a least one of these insurance enterprises is William McKenna, general counsel of the House Committee on Government Operations. He has the names of two local union chiefs who made some $350,000 in commissions for shifting $750,000,000 worth of insurance to a Chicago company.

SIMILAR OPERATIONS are being uncovered regularly by FBI agents throughout the East; by the Manhattan District Attorney in New York and by the St. Louis Federal Grand Jury in Missouri and nearby states. There, employers have been forced to pay 12½ per cent of their payrolls into local union welfare and insurance funds. These policies are then placed through a business agent, or one of the combine, or a lady friend, or even a wife —acting as an insurance agent under an easily obtainable state license.

Now along comes a local union feud, and a murder in the Bronx, no less. Not even in Brooklyn. And when the DA digs into the murdered union official's business activities, he discovered that the dead man's wife is vice president of a brokerage firm which handled hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of insurance for some 10 unions in which the assassinated one had considerable personal influence.

No reflection on the missus. It is all legal. There is no law which says that a union official can't operate an insurance company, directly or indirectly. And you can't measure trade union ethics by any but your own moral yardsick. But one thing is certain—throught the country the mob is moving in on this type of insurance—and it's disturbed when any part of the business is spotlighted.

THE MOB KNOWS that there are many honest firms which make meagre profits out of this business of insuring the little union fellow, the duespayer who counts on his leaders to get his wife and children a square shake if he runs a fever or keels over. But the mobs don't want this kind of material printed.

They don't want the union people to know that there are labor outfits like the Philadelphia District Council of Iron Workers whose welfare fund purchases $5,000,000 in life insurance for its members—while the commissions to the honest broker handing it come to merely about $80 a week.

There's John L. Lewis' welfare fund, which now is building 10 hospitals—the first constructed by a union — to care for miners and even outsiders.

There's the CIO's National Maritime Union, which pays $2,000,000 a year in premiums for $140,000,000 worth of life insurance for its sailor members—and the broker handling this gets less than $10,000 annually in commissions.

There's the San Francisco Laborers Health and Welfare Fund, with a similar premium and a similar commission.

The Chicago Sheetmetal Workers Local 73 has a welfare fund placing $5,000,000 in insurance—and the agent gets less than $60 a week.

This business of insuring the welfare of the little fellow can be done honestly—but it does take guts to stand up under mob pressure. Those without this kind of guts should get out of the labor movement. They betray their trust.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

If we had the powers of some of the "super-men" in children's comics, we might invent a magic bulldozer to smooth out the bad bumps and fill in the deep holes found on the rough road we all travel through life.

Earl J. Andrews

Perhaps, it is just as well, for such a machine might take some of the thrill and zest from life. The "unexpected" and "uncertain" provides the basis for our most remembered experiences.

Luckily, however, the modern world does provide a cushion for many of the roughest jolts — INSURANCE. Insurance serves as a shock absorber for many hazards. It is available to assure you peace of mind and security.

Naturally, though, the Insurance can not be selected haphazardly. When the unexpected becomes the "unanticipated" you still face the rough jolt without proper protection.

A survey of your policies and problems will probably uncover errors, gaps or duplicating coverage. It may also save you money. Certainly, you will then be ready to meet many of the roughest spots with reasonable comfort.

Such a Survey is part of our "smoothing" service. Won't you visit our office, or give us a call?

LAST U. S. PANDA DIES

CHICAGO (AP) — Mei-lan, the last giant panda in the United States, died last night at the approximate age of 15.

The chubby, teddy-bear-like animal with heavy black and white fur, had been a resident of Brookfield Zoo since babyhood.

Zoo Director Robert Bean said Mei-lan apparently succumbed to a heart ailment.

Mei-lan was one of three cubs presented the zoo nearly 15 years ago after they were captured in the mountainous regions of Mongolia.

Two Michigan Men Injured in Auto Collision

Auto Runs Into Taxi On N. Main St., Driver And Passenger Hurt

Two Michigan men were injured slightly in one of six traffic accidents, including two hit-skips, investigated between noon Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday by Marion police. State highway patrolmen reported four accidents during the period, none involving injury.

Hurt in a collision on N. Main St. in front of the Greyhound Bus station at 1:15 a.m. Sunday were Adam Sharts of Detroit with a cut lip, possible broken nose and slight head injury and Wayne Watts of Detroit, bruised chest and lip. Both were treated but not admitted to City Hospital for their injuries. They were both riding in a car driven by Watts.

Auto Runs Into Taxi

The collision occurred when Watts' car struck the rear of a Red Cab Co. taxicab driven by Joseph L. Reams, 26, of near Richwood.

Police reported both vehicles were headed south on N. Main St. and both were considerably damaged.

A 17-year-old Oakwood, Va., youth was arrested at the scene of the accident on a charge of intoxication and is being held on an open charge for investigation.

Two hit-skip accidents both involved parked cars. At 12:30 a.m. Sunday a car owned by Harold Rosebrough of 174½ N. Main St. and parked in front of 409 N. Grand Ave. was struck by an unidentified car. The right front fender of Rosebrought's car was damaged.

At 8:51 a.m. Saturday a car owned by S. J. Kovic of 307 W. Church St. parked in front of the Danner Buick Co. used car lot on E. Center St., was struck by an unidentified car. The left side and rear bumper of Kovic's car were damaged.

Manhole Cover Gives Way

The hub cap and right rear fender of a car driven by Paul L. Arndt, 25, of 259 E. Walnut St. were damaged slightly when a manhole cover gave way while he was parking at E. Walnut and S. Vine Sts. a 6:06 p.m. Saturday. The rear wheel dropped into manhole axel deep, police reported.

Cars driven by W. W. Russell, 66, of Bucyrus and Alber Mathewson, 37, of near Marysville were damaged in a collision a the intersection of the first alley south of Silver St. on Oak St. a 11:55 a.m. Saturday.

Cars driven by Ronald L. Strawser, 23, of 437 Windsor St. and Peter Lemmer, 85, of near Marion were involved in a mishap at W. Columbia and Pearl Sts. Saturday There was only slight damage to Strawaser's car, police reported.

Patrol Reports Four

Four non-injury, minor accidents were reported today by state patrolmen of the Marion outpost.

Robert Whipple, 18, of Mt. Gilead was arrested Saturday at 6:30 p.m. on Route 95, just east of the Marion city limits.

Patrolmen said Whipple's car hit the rear of a car driven by Virginia Hough, 20, of 221 Fairview St. Another car was making a left hand turn off the highway in front of the two cars when the accident occurred, patrolmen said.

Both cars, traveling west, were slightly damaged. Arrested on a charge of following too closely, Whipple was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday.

A similar accident at 2:50 p.m. Saturday on Drexel Ave., south of the city limits, resulted in slight damage to two vehicles.

Patrolmen said a car driven by Darrell E. Frazier, 18, of near Bucyrus struck the rear of a car operated by Cecil Adams, 16, of Drexel Ave. Both cars were traveling south. Frazier was arrested on a charge of following too closely and was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court next Saturday.

A car was extensively damaged when it left the road in an accident Sunday at 5:10 a.m. on Route 95 in Morrow County.

The car, driven by Perry LeRoy Jaggers, 22, of near Edison left the road on the left side and rolled over. Patrolmen said Jaggers evidently fell asleep. He was traveling east.

An accident in Edison Sunday at 7:25 a.m. resulted in slight damage.

Patrolmen said a car driven by Carl Bomberger, 76, of Edison was backing up, headed west, when it went off the road and over a culvert.

brutal contrast to it. To this, there is no more pitiful and dramatic testimony than the food which this free people has been able to send to feed hundreds of thousands suffering the peculiar torments of the proletarian paradise of Eastern Germany.

China for the return of nationals captured in World War II.

The exchange ended shortly after 11 a.m. Sunday when slightly bewildered Air Force Capt. Theodore Harris of Van Nuys, Calf., climbed out of the last Communist truck.

He was the 12,760th Allied soldier, the 4,910th non-Korean and the 3,597th American to return.

The final contingent included 111 Americans, 8 British, 8 South Koreans, 4 Turks and 1 South African.

"I'm the last man?" Harris asked in surprise, under the impression that there were more to come.

The U. N. final return of Reds totaled 2,392—including 2,255 North Koreans and 137 Chinese.

The total of repatriated Communist prisoners was 70,159 North Koreans and 5,640 Chinese, for an overall figure of 75,799.

The Allies stated emphatically that every single Communist prisoner desiring repatriation had been returned.

In the case of several nationalities, including American, the Reds returned more prisoners than they had said they would at the start of the exchange.

But they returned fewer South Koreans. Shortly before the exchange ended the Communists announced they held approximately 300 South Koreans and 20 non-Koreans who did not want to be sent home.

Ohio Captain Got Away for 13 Days Before Recapture

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Monday, Sept. 7 (AP)—An infantry captain, freed Sunday by the Reds, told how he tried to escape three times and once was free for 13 days.

The officer, Capt. William A. McClain, 32, of Youngstown, Ohio, said, "most of us are damn good anti-Communists" after their POW experience.

McClain first tired to escape in December, 1950, with other men. They stopped in a Korean house on Christmas Eve and "said our prayers and thanked God for our good luck that far." About an hour later "bullets came crashing through the walls of the hut and we were recaptured."

"They took all our clothes away and we stood outside naked as they gave us a good working over," McClain continued.

"They asked Korean civilians if they should shoot us but they said no. We were taken back to the camp and the only punishment I got was interrogation."

McClain made his second escape attempt in May, 1951, with four other prisoners. They were caught the next afternoon and given "very rough treatment."

McClain's third escape attempt took place July 12, 1952 and he and two companions remained free for 13 days.

DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — A two-car collision on U.S. 52 near here which killed one man Saturday claimed its second victim Saturday night. She was Mrs. Ola Ligon, 29, of Hampton, Va. Buford Robinson, about 20, of Wayland, Ky., died earlier.

Most cork produced in the U.S. comes from old trees in California.

Queen of Event Named; 300 Take Part in Parade

The Richwood Fair was off to a good start Saturday and Sunday as sunny skies wih cool weather prevailed.

Afternoon harness racing, following junior fair judging in the morning opened the event Saturday. At 5 p.m. Saturday, a Sesquicentennial Parade moved through the town and over to the fairgrounds.

More than 300 persons took part in the parade which had been hailed befcrehand as one of the largest in the state. It took nearly two and one-half hours for the entire line of entries in the parade to move through the fairgrounds.

Featured in the march were the 32 candidates for the title of Queen for the Richwood Fair. Each was in her own convertible with an escort and two flower girls accompanying her.

MISS NORMA McGINNIS of near Richwood was chosen queen of the fair by a popular vote which was tabulated Sunday afternoon. She was crowned Sunday evening.

She was escorted in the parade by Bob Houk. Gene Cheney drove her convertible. Flower girls were Susie Hamilton and Meredythe Shoup, both of West Mansfield.

Miss McGinnis won further honors Saturday as she and her troupe were awarded the trophy for having the most beautiful ensemble. She and her flower girls were dressed in matching white dresses with black satin trimming.

The queen is an employe of the Ohio Edison Co. in Richwood. She is 20 years old and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McGinnis. She was sponsored in the event by Lloyd Kerns.

Charlene Blue, a junior in high school was awarded second place in the contest. Shirley Southard, 19, placed third. She is a secretary at a Richwood insurance agency.

—:—

THE PARADE was one of contrasts. Old-time horse drawn buggies were almost immediately followed by 1953 automobiles entered by local car dealers.

A horse-drawn hearse, purchased in 1901 by the late owner of the Winter Funeral Home was contrasted with one of the latest model ambulances of another Richwood funeral parlor.

Women in 19th century garb looked out of place among the queen candidates in their new formals.

The Army also got into the show as they had a group of men marching, two tanks, and several of their trucks entered.

As in every parade, there were several bands to provide music for the marchers. Among those taking part in the event Saturday were bands from Galion, Waldo, Claridon, and the Eagles Band from Marion.

MOST OF THE paricipants in the parade Saturday also marched in another parade Sunday. This parade celebrated the 100th anniversary of the fair.

Also present in the parade were Miss Ohio and the Marion County Sesquicentennial Queen. Miss Ohio was Caroline Kent of Mt. Marysville. Caroline Creager is Marion County's Queen.

As the marchers passed the grandstand, many were presented with trophies sponsored by local businesses and individuals.

After the parade, there was a talent show Saturday evening. This was followed by a hog-calling contest, a husband calling contest, and another talent revue.

SUNDAY'S ACTIVITIES included a baton twirling contest in the early afternoon, the centennial parade later in the afternoon, a mass demonstration of the baton twirlers, and another talent revue.

Today's events will include judging in the open division of livestock at 1 p.m. followed at 2 by harness races, and at 8 by the midwestern Hay Ride.

The fair closes Tuesday. A livestock and farm machinery parade will move at 1 p.m. More harness races are on schedule for 2 p.m. and the affair ends with a wrestling match at 8 p.m.

Almost the entire town took part in the fair. Store windows were decorated with pictures and relics of olden days. Two men marching in the parade were dressed as old-time prospectors and led a stubborn mule around the track.

Labor Day

1887, Oregon made the day an official holiday.

—:—

THREE MONTHS after that, Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York took the same steps. In 1894, Grover Cleveland proclaimed the first Monday in September as a national holiday.

Today, 49 years later, people here in America still observe Labor Day. There are not so many parades as in the old days. Now more persons than ever jump into the family car and take off for the country or their favorite spot for the week end.

Few of them think of how far they would be able to travel were it not for the laboring man who made the cars, built the roads, made the materials for the cars, or did any of the jobs without which our modern way of life would be impossible.

THOSE WHO STAY at home may relax and enjoy the comfort of their own houses. But many of them forget about the carpenters or brick masons who built the homes, the men in the steel mills who made the materials for the nails holding the houses together, or any of the other persons who make living in this age a comfort rather than the chore it was in early times in America.

Many Americans, taking advantage of the holiday, will not stop to think of the many comforts of life which they take for granted which would not be possible except for the toil of laboring men.

EVEN THE LABORING man, whose day is celebrated today, will possibly fail to realize, the significance which is conveyed in this observance. Instead, he, like the rest of his fellow Americans, will spend the day trying to relax and enjoy himself for the last time during the summer.

There will be some though who will remember and say a quiet thanks to the men who inaugurated today as the day of tribute to American workers.

Probe

figures and other classified information on a Navy contract for 120,000 aerial rocket launchers while trying unsuccessfully to get a contract to represent Century Industries, Inc., of Burbank, Calif., for $2,000 monthly or four per cent of any extra launcher business he obtained for the firm.

Represented Several Firms

Stephenson, these sources said, represented several companies in Washington, including the Drayer-Hanson Manufacturing Co., Los Angeles. Newspaper stories have also identified him as former chairman of the Taft committee for the District of Columbia and assistant floor manager for the late Ohio Senator when Taft was seeking the GOP presidential nomination at the Chicago convention last year.

Stephenson's office said he was out of town and could not be reached until later this week.

Rep. Hess (R-Ohio), subcommittee chairman, declined to comment on the investigation. It was learned, however, that a report probably will be made public soon.

Informants said Stephenson, in two secret appearances before the subcommittee, first denied then admitted quoting the Navy information in a May 19 telephone conversation with officials of Century, but said he did not know it was classified.

No Legal Ban

There is no law barring anyone from representing business companies on a percentage basis. Congress conducted an intensive investigation of alleged influence peddlers under the Truman administration—who said they got five per cent—with a result that some have been indicted for lying under oath.

The informants said nine days of hearings revealed this story:

Century engineers developed a process for making rocket launchers from plastic instead of metal. The Navy bought the patents, then directed Century to share its knowledge with other companies to broaden the source of supply. Bids were solicited as the prelude to negotiated contracts.

Morton's Role

Stephenson was put into contact with Robert Q. Parsons, a Century executive, by the president of Drayer-Hanson, George J. Morton. During a long telephone conversation, Stephenson quoted the bid figures submitted by Century and its main competitors and told Parsons his company needed a Washington representative to get more than 25,000 units of the contract.

At one point, Stephenson described his activities and his contacts as "puffing" in order to get the job. He asked $2,000 monthly or 4 per cent of all units over 25,000 obtained by Century.

Parsons testified Stephenson told him the fee could be included in the contract price. Parsons said he decided not to hire Stephenson and relayed the story of the telephone call to Charles Thomas, undersecretary of the Navy, on a subsequent Washington trip. This started the government probe.

Unity Lecture Meeting

Mrs. Fred C. Ziesenheim will open her home at 523 King Ave. for a lecture of the Marion Unity group Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. Place of the meeting has been changed from the YMCA because of the transer being made to the new Y building. Mrs. Mercedes Fossler will speak on "Your Equivalent."

Merger of Big Unions Asked By Dave Beck

Teamsters' President Calls on CIO, UMW To Unite With AFL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Dave Beck of the powerful AFL Teamsters Union called Sunday for immediate action to unite the AFL, CIO and United Mine Workers within the next year.

His Labor Day message was one of a series issued by union leaders, who stressed the need of a free and strong labor movement as a bulwark against Communism, and compared the standard of living of U. S. workers with conditions in Iron Curtain countries.

Urges Action Now

Beck, who only last month was named an AFL vice president, said that "all labor must unite. We believe it will do so eventually, we urge it to act now."

"In this spirit," he continued, "we call upon the coming AFL convention to invite the CIO and John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers to come into the AFL before another Labor Day passes."

Lewis, in a statement released earlier, expressed similar hope for labor unity within a year, but said "this will not be realized unless the memberships of the trade unions rise up and insist upon the leadership of their unions consummating organic unity without 'conferencing' the matter to death."

The AFL convention will open in St. Louis Sept. 21. Both the AFL and the CIO recently renewed merger talks, but Lewis has not been included in the conferences.

Ranking leaders of both the AFL and the CIO, meantime, criticized the new Republican regime for what they said was a failure to improve the status of working men in this country.

Meany Rips Congress

AFL President George Meany told a CBS television audience that "we have gone backwards" in America since Labor Day a year ago, especially in the areas of housing, social security and education.

"We think the 83rd Congress has failed to do the things that are vital to the welfare of the American people," he said, and called for improvements to fortify the American way of life for the struggle against communism.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, charged in a radio address that only big business had benefited under the new regime.

Ruse Fails, Police Hold 16-Year-Old And Older Brother

A 19-year-old Marion youth and his 16-year-old brother are in double trouble today following the failure of the older one to appear in Municipal Court in answer to a traffic citation.

He was issued a citation on E. Fairground St. on a charge of having no muffler on his automobile and ordered to appear in Municipal Court Saturday.

Apparently feeling it safer to stay away himself, he sent his 16-year-old brother to appear in court in his place and gave him his driver's license as identification.

Detecting the ruse, police detained the 16-year-old and arrested the older brother at 12:50 p.m. Saturday. He is now being held in the city prison, faced with a possible charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Meanwhile, his brother is being held in the Marion County Detention Home pending completion of police investigation.

Tito Proposes Italian Treaty Be Rewritten

Will Internationalize Trieste but Take All Surrounding Territory

OKRAGLJICA, Yugoslavia, (AP)—President Tito proposed Sunday revision of the Italian peace treaty to make Trieste a free port under international control and give Yugoslavia all of its surrounding territory.

Tito laid down his proposals before an enthusiastic outdoor audience of more than 250,000 people who packed a natural arena in this hamlet five miles from the Italian border.

Scoffs At Italy

Amid laughter from the crowd, the Yugoslav leader scoffed at Italian claims that Yugoslavia planned to annex Zone B of the Trieste territory.

"Why should we?" he said. "We are already there."

(In Rome, the Italian Foreign Office said it was studying the text of Tito's speech but spokesmen declined to comment immediately.)

Zone B is occupied by 5,000 Yugoslav troops under the 1947 Italian peace treaty. British and American forces occupy Zone A, embracing the port itself. Both Italy and Yugoslavia claim the territories. Their seven-year-old dispute flared up again when Yugoslavia charged that Italy's new government hurried three divisions to the border area last weekend as a show of force. The Italians, according to Yugoslav charges, feigned fears that Yugoslavia contemplated formal annexation of Zone B.

Moderate But Firm

In moderate but firm tones, Tito served notice that Yugoslavia would not surrender "a single inch" of Zone B.

Yugoslavia took over the administration of civilian affairs in this zone after the Western powers last year gave Italy a larger share in the administration of Zone A.

Before the cheering throngs, many of whom were in picnic mood, Tito declared:

"We only wish for that which is ours. We only want that every last inch of our land become ours."

He offered no suggestion as to how his proposal should be put into effect. Presumably it would require action either by the signatories of the Italian peace treaty of measures within the United Nations.

His words were tempered with moderation. Earlier, Yugoslavia had threatened to send toughly trained troops to the frontier unless Italy ended its military demonstrations and "provocations."

Adenauer

been regarded as West Germany's "reddest district". The party had to win one district seat or get five per cent of the national poll to be represented. Their national tally ran at about three per cent.

The Nazi-like German Reich Party (DRP) did even worse than the Communists. Regarded fearfully at one time as the central rallying point for a Nazi comeback, the DRP was running last among the eight major parties.

A fellow-traveling outfit, the redginged All-German People's Party, also was soundly trounced.

The Sunday vote was a clear victory for Washington over Moscow. Dulles had endorsed Adenauer's government days before the election by saying its defeat would be disastrous for prospects of reunifying divided Germany.

Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov warned repeatedly that Russia could never release its grip on East Germany if Adenauer succeeded in arming West Germany on the side of the free world.

No violence marred the voting. Vigilant German police squelched Communist plans for disturbances before they materialized. More than 7,000 Red agitators sent over to brawl spent the day in jail. Local Communists were silent. But tough, mobile German police squads stayed on alarm status until the polls closed.

The stern, 77-year-old Adenauer who guided West Germany from international ostracism to courted favor in four years, carried his campaign to city, town and hamlet in the republic's nine states.

But the Socialists, second strongest party, were just as tireless.

They attacked Adenauer's policy of rearmament and declared Germany would never be re-unified if he raised soldiers in the West.

It was one of their most powerful arguments since Germans, both East and West, long for unity.

But Adenauer told them: "See what has been accomplished in West Germany since 1949." That carried weight.

If his three party coalition — Christian Democrats, Free Democrats and German party — is victorious, Germany will stay with the West. If the counting raises the Socialists to the top, the future of Germany — especially in foreign policy — is wide open.

Many Benefits Unused

Psychological Research Slighted, Scientist Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Psychology can help make your work more fun, cut taxes, avoid depressions, and strengthen U. S foreign policy, a prominent psychologist said Sunday

Some keys to do these things have already come from studies of why people tick as they do

But psychological research isn't being used effectively or widely enough for such purposes, Dr Rensis Likert, director of the Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan, said at the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association

What Makes Good Boss

One key is a finding of what makes a good boss, whose workers are more productive, more satisfied in their jobs, Dr Likert said

The good boss is really interested in humans as humans He develops group loyalty and pride He sets high goals, but spreads responsibility, lets workers help decide how to reach the goal He himself is not under strict instructions from his own higher-ups

But government and industry are doing practically no research to use such findings, and really train leaders to act in ways to win good morale and production, Dr. Likert said

Government could save money, and hence taxes, by making workers more productive, reducing turn-over and absenteeism, he said Industry could profit, too

More Knowledge Needed

Human research has turned up keys about why and how consumers make up their minds to buy or not to buy, what to buy, and when, he continued More knowledge of this kind could keep our economy at a high even level, avoiding troubles from over-production or under-production, make for sounder business predictions

In international affairs, "we're spending more money and doing more research to learn how foreigners feel about us than we are in getting facts about how much the American public knows about the issues, or what they think should be done"

"Foreign affairs aren't being described to the American people in everyday terms of their own experience, so they can think them through and understand them And if you don't get broad support for a policy, you are likely to get legislation to block it, the United States can't fulfill its role of leadership without the understanding and support of the people"

INDIANS ARRIVE AT PANMUNJOM FOR GUARD DUTY. First units of the 5,000-man Indian force which will stand guard in the neutral strip between South and North Korea form ranks at Panmunjom after being ferried from deck of a U S aircraft carrier by helicopter. The Indian troops were brought to Korean waters by a British ship, then transferred to the U S carrier by lighter The helicopter ferry service got them to their destination without them setting foot in South Korea whose government objects to their presence. The Indians will guard POW's who do not wish to return to the Communist side

Work Harder at Play

More Fact Than Theory in Labor Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor Day is a fine idea

It gives the boss 24 hours in which to escape from the critical eye of the working man It gives the conscientious employe the same respite from his stern duty of reminding the management there aren't enough towels in the washroom.

The theory behind Labor Day is great—that is to honor labor by abstaining from it And it is a sound theory so far as it goes, because any kind of work looks better from a distance than it does when you get involved in it

The trouble with Labor Day is that it lives up to its name instead of the theory behind it Both boss and hired hand work harder playing on Labor Day than they do playing they are working on an ordinary day. They put out enough foot pounds of energy on Labor Day to turn every wheel in America for a week.

Why not save all this wasted energy? Why not have a "No-Labor and No-Play" Day?

As it is now millions of Americans must work on Labor Day in order that other millions may play. That is the way our civilization is geared

But how about a law creating a national public holiday on which everybody and everything would be forbidden to do work of any kind, or play in any way? The law would apply to men, animals and machines It would enforce complete and absolute rest from dawn to dusk

All beaches, filling stations, bars, restaurants, theaters and highways would be closed All power plants would be shut down There would be no television or radio programs, no ball games, no newspapers printed The zoos would lock up, too, thereby denying the caged inhabitants the pleasure of laughing at human visitors.

Cops could stay home and cool their bunions as no burglar would dare burgle on that day

The only human institutions allowed to remain open would be a few hospitals, as no law can keep a fellow from dying, falling ill or getting himself born Hens would be permitted to go on laying and cows to give milk as there isn't much congress could do to stop them either.

But for everybody else—Repose, peace, no work or duties or energy-wasting pursuit of pleasure of any kind

What a silence would fall in every city, as fresh winds cleansed them of all smoke and factory fumes! How serene all America would seem! Nobody doing anything except just lying in bed resting . dozing . . dreaming . . resting . . . all day long

Well, it's a fine goal, this "No-Labor-and-No-Play" Day There's only one thing wrong with it. It wouldn't work

It would drive Americans stark crazy. They couldn't possibly sit or lie still that long They aren't made that way They either have to be doing something or going somewhere

By 10 a m the housewives would be saying to their husbands, "law or no law, this house is going to be cleaned And you get up, you loafer, and help me"

By noon, to keep from breaking the law at home, the husbands would be out breaking the law everywhere else, and every saloon would have a back door open The highways would be jammed by mid-afternoon and bootleg gas would be selling for a dollar a gallon

Before nightfall every city would be usual, and 160,000,000 happy lawbreakers across the nation would be telling each other

"I guess we showed the government it can't make an American take a holiday lying down"

Harding, St. Mary Squads Set for Preview Games

Presidents Meet Newark, Irish on Road to Fostoria

By GARY SAMS

Harding and St. Mary Football fans will get pre-season glances at their teams in action in preview contests on the coming week end.

St Mary travels to Fostoria to limber up in the fourth annual Fostoria Boosters Football Preview Friday. Coach Pete Howison's Harding squad meets Newark High School Saturday on the stadium turf in a game arranged by Harding's Booster club.

The two preview matches serve as warm-ups to the local schools' season openers the following week Coach Ray Robbins' Irish make their debut in the new Mid-Ohio Conference here with Cardington Sept. 19. Harding travels to Columbus Sept 18 to open its campaign with Columbus West.

Coaches Experiment

Both coaches will, more or less, experiment to find their best combinations and will polish offensive and defensive tactics through outside competitions. This means the fans will likely see every member of the squads in action.

St Mary's opponent in the preview is Fostoria High School of the strong Buckeye League, the host team which it will play in two eight-minute halves. It is the last game on a program of two other tussles The Presidents will be playing four eight-minute quarters against Newark.

Sponsored by the Harding Booster Club, the Harding-Newark tilt will be a big event. It has been designated as Booster Club Night and the club, of which Bill Hamor is president, is urging all Marionites to "boost the team." The game is "intended to give the boys pre-game experience and give the townspeople a look at the team," Cecil Gabler, Harding principal, said.

Section C at the stadium has been reserved for Booster Club members only. The concession stand will be operated by students and faculty that night and the Harding band is to perform at half time. Game time is 8 p.m. and admission is 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Reserves Set

Varsity squads will play the first half and the reserves of both teams will crack helmets during the second half. This is due to an Ohio athletic rule governing preseason games which only permits a gridder to play 16 minutes

Preceding the St. Mary-Fostoria game in the annual Boosters Preview there, Fostoria St Wendelin will play Bowling Green, also of the Buckeye League, and Rising Sun will meet Van Buren. Action gets underway at 7 30 p m at Fostoria's Memorial Stadium and during the intermission of one of the games, a queen will be crowned. Tickets for the preview, which can be purchased at the gate, are $1 for adults and 35 cents for students.

First injuries of the season have occurred at Harding Doug Bibler, who lettered last year as a back, injured his knee in practice Wednesday and Coach Pete Howison reports he may be out a week or so. Fred Hazen suffered an ankle injury in Harding's scrimmage game with Galion last Saturday and was shelved for a few days.

Otherwise, St Mary and Harding have had only the usual bumps and bruises Some of the squad members have missed practice during the past several days of training with upset stomachs and temperatures and a few minor injuries but have reported back after missing only one or two sessions By the week end, Ray and Pete reported several boys becoming sick due to the intense heat and they cut out a few practices because of the soaring mercury.

Both coaches are brushing up their teams on a "little bit of everything" At Harding, Pete has been drilling his team on offensive continually and is prepping the Plexies on defense more intensely now, Ray began stressing defense to his Irish several days ago and says he will continue this until St. Marys first game

Ray and Pete say their gridders are rounding into good physical condition. The teams have been scrimmaging the last several practices and have a number of other scrimmage games under their belts. St. Mary last Tuesday scrimmaged with Galion and Harding has had practice games with Upper Sandusky and Galion.

Lineups Set

Tentative lineups for the preview games have been announced by both mentors. Ray has named Pat O'Connor and either Don Shoemaker or Jack O'Keefe at the ends; John Kelly and either Ed Quinn or Paul Simpson at the tackles; Dave Craft or Bob Campton at one guard spot and either Jerry Ballenger or Chuck Mitchell at the other; and either Jack Schnitzler or Jack McNamara at the center position. Quarterback will be Roger Michel, fullback will be Larry Ryan and the halfbacks will either be Mike Anderson or John Messenger and Butch Merchant or Ted Kilbury. The entire backfield is filled with lettermen and all but Craft, McNamara, Mitchell, Simpson and O'Keeffe are lettermen in the line.

Pete has named both an offensive and defensive platoon. The offensive lineup will have Gene Armstrong and Fred Hazen or Ted Firstenberger , a sophomore, at the ends; Frank D'Eramo and Bob Hamor at the tackle posts; Abner Thomas and Whitey Clinger at guards; and Bob Caldwell or Hank Rinnert at center. Don Schweinfurth will be the quarterback and Gary "Chug" Ballinger will be at fullback. Halfbacks will be Chet King and either Bibler or Joe Albinack

On defense, Jim Whaley and Bob Prater will be the ends; Larry Harper and Merv Matteson, a sophomore, will be at the tackle posts; and Larry Sager and Rinnert at the guard positions; Joe Snouffer, Thomas and Hamor or Clinger in any one of three spots will be the linebackers and the halfbacks will be Fred Price and Bibler or King Armstrong, Hazen, Firstenberger, D'Eramo, Rinnert, Schweinfurth, Matteson and Sager are the non-lettermen in the lineup

Bigges worry to both coaches this year will probably be their team's lack of weight. St. Mary's biggest gridder is Kelly at 180 while the rest of the squad hovers under and nearer the 150 mark. The Irish also have no depth. Harding's offensive team averages 145-155 pounds with the exception of the tackles, who tip the scales around 180 The defensive team is slightly heavier.

St. Mary will play Elm Valley, Cardington, Mt. Gilead and Richwood in the new Mid-Ohio Conference It was formed last winter by representatives of the Class B schools.

Leo Durocher, Furillo Banned After Squabble

Pair Comes to Blows During Dodgers' 6-2 Win Over New York

BROOKLYN (AP) — Preacher Roe registered his 10th straight victory Sunday as the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the New York Giants 6-3 for a sweep of the three game series.

The game was enlivened by a fist fight between Giant Manager Leo Durocher and Dodger rightfielder Carl Furillo after the latter had been hit by a pitched ball.

The fight started after Furillo was restrained from charging Giant pitcher Ruben Gomez, who had hit him on the right wrist while Carl was at bat in the second inning

With play resumed, Furillo on first base and Billy Cox at bat, Furillo suddenly left the bag and made a dash for the Giant dugout Just as he reached the steps, Durocher dashed out to meet him and they started throwing punches.

The combatants finally were separated by the umpires and players on both sides who acted as peacemakers. Furillo and Durocher were banished from the game.

Dr Eugene Zorn, Dodgers' club physician, reported from the clubhouse that while Furillo showed only a slight bruise on the right wrist, he had an ugly gash on the left hand, which was stepped upon in the melee. Carl was taken to Long Island College Hospital for X-rays.

Later, an examination showed Furillo fractured a bone in his left hand Dr. Zion said he will be out of action 10 days.

65 Hopefuls Report For Pre-Season Grid Drill at OWU

DELAWARE — Ohio Wesleyan University's pre-season football drills got underway yesterday with 65 candidates, including 21 freshmen, reporting to Head Coach Glenn Fraser.

Nucleus for the "Battling Bishops" 63rd grid campaign will be 23 lettermen who also worked out on the practice field yesterday.

Wesleyan's nine-game slate opens against Otterbein at Westerville on Sept. 26

The coaching staff will need to put in a lot of work and experimenting during the next three weeks to get the best prospects lined up, according to Fraser.

Among the returning backfield lettermen is Carl Peggs of Fostoria, a left half who racked up the top yardage for the Bishops last year.

Chicago Wins 2 From Cincinnati

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Willis, 26-year-old right handed draftee from Shreveport of the Texas League, pitched his first major league victory as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-2, in the second game of a doubleheader.

First baseman Dee Fondy's ninth inning two-out steal of home gave the Cubs a 7-6 win in the opener.

The Bruins thus swept the three game series.

Willis walked six and fanned four in yielding eight hits as the Cubs scored seven runs on seven hits and four Cincinnati errors to assure the sweep.

Celebrities Golf Play Canceled

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Drenching rains turned the Woodmont Country Club into a quagmire Sunday and wiped out for the second straight day the third round of the National Celebrities Golf Tournament.

The tourney officials decided at 4 p.m (EST), that the course was no longer playable and ordered cancellation of all the scores. Even though all but nine of the players had completed the round, the scores were not counted and play reverted back to where it stood at the end of two rounds Saturday.

That left Lew Worsnam of Oakmont, Pa., in first place with an 18-hole total of 137. He had gone through 11 holes today and was two over par. his lead threatened by fine rounds by Ryder Cuppers Jim Turnesa and Ted Kroll, who moved into a tie with Worsham at the 45-hole mark, each with 175 strokes.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., and Jack Isaacs, a pro at Langley Field, Va., had jumped into a two-way tie for the lead at the 54-hole mark, each with fine rounds Sunday that gave them a temporary score of 214. Isaacs was around in four under par 68, Oliver in 69.

Replacement Pilot Wins Trophy Race In Aircraft Show

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Forrest Wilson of Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Tex., a substitute pilot, Sunday won the Allison Trophy event at the National Aircraft Show with a 110 3-mile dash from Indianapolis to Dayton in a little more than 12 minutes.

Wilson substituted for Capt Kelsey C. Wynns of Roosevelt, Okla., for an unannounced reason.

Average speed for the Republic F84G Thunderjet was 537 802 miles per hour

Capt Robert J Schueler, 31, a Wisconsin native, streaked across the finish line at the Cox municipal airport at nearby Vandalia in second place with an average speed of 531 316.

In third place was Maj. Virgil E. Sarsing of Bay City, Tex Maj Neil D Stanley of McCall, S. C., was fourth

The record in the Allison event was established in 1949 by Lt. Walter C Crew with an average speed of 594.8 miles per hour. Air Force officials said because pilots in Sunday's race had ground starts, chances for new speed records were lessened sharply

U.S. Netters Score Sweep Over Aussie Stars, Boost Hopes

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—In an all-American sweep over Australian foes, Vic Seixas blasted aside Lewis Hoad, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4, and Tony Trabert crushed Ken Rosewall, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3, Sunday to gain the final round of the National Tennis Championships.

The double defeat of Australia's 18-year-old wonders was a staggering blow for Aussie tennis, and buoyed United States hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup in December.

Seixas, a 30-year-old Philadelphian who holds the Wimbledon title, and Trabert, 23-year-old ex-sailor just released from the service this summer, will meet at the West Side Tennis Club today for the championship. They were seeded No. 1 and 2, respectively.

Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., will go after her third straight women's title against Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla.

Maureen trounced Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Hart eliminated Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Bucyrus, Delaware Squads Scrimmage

BUCYRUS—After two weeks of practice, Bucyrus High's Redmen gridders held a scrimmage Friday night against Willis High School's eleven at Delaware. During the past week, the squad worked out at night because of the intense heat.

In last night's scrimmage, the only pre-season workout of its kind scheduled by the Redmen, Coach Dick Frantz's starting backfield included Glen Butterman, Tom Smith, Ray Foreman and Frank Barth.

Bucyrus opens its season Sept. 18 at Tiffin Columbian.

Phillies Nip Pittsburgh On Pair of Home Runs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Del Ennis and Jonny Wyrostek blasted two-run homers and Granny Hamner smashed a bases-empty roundtripper to power the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-2 victory Sunday over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mathews Collects 45th Circuit Blow

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves and St. Louis Cardinals fought to a 3-3 tie in the second game of a double header called by darkness at the end of the eighth inning Sunday after the Braves had won the opener, 3-1, as Eddie Mathews bashed his 45th home run.

There was no immediate information on the future status of the tie. The visit was St. Louis' last this year, but both teams have open dates Sept. 18.

County Entries Take Honors In State Fair

Marion County entrants won first place in the Holstein group-of-five class at the Ohio State Junior Fair last week for the third victory in a row

Two of the persons who started the three-year-winning streak in 1951 also figured in this year's win. They are Jo Earl of near Marion who showed a senior calf and Richard Lawrence of near Marion who showed the junior yearling.

Others whose Holstein entries helped take the prize were Loren Fulton of Caledonia who had an aged cow in the event, and Stanley Lawrence of near Marion who had a senior yearling.

Loren Fulton's cow headed the group this year. She was senior champion and reserve grand champion of the 4-H Holstein show.

Under rules of the contest, 4-H and FFA members from one county may enter any five animals shown at the fair. No one exhibitor may enter more than two animals in the group contest.

Other area winners at the State Fair were announced today. One was Franklin Leighty, FFA member from Upper Sandusky. He won the award for showing the grand champion market wether sheep over all breeds in the open class.

The winning lamb was sold to the Fort Hayes Hotel in Columbus for 85 cents per pound.

The 21-year-old Leighty won the same honor in 1947, and has taken 10 championship ribbons in the fairs he has previously entered.

He is in partnership with his father on a 600-acre farm specializing in Southdown sheep, Hereford cattle, and Spotted Poland hogs. He will receive the American Farmer Degree at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City in October.

The degree is the highest honor which can be won in the Future Farmers organization.

In the swine department of the state fair, five entrants from the area were awarded prizes. Jane Yake of Cardington took second place in the 4-H gilt showmanship event for all breeds. Right behind her in the event was Kenneth Rhoades of Mt. Victory.

Jane Yake also placed third in the 4-H Berkshire gilt judging event. Kenneth Rhoades also took another prize as he exhibited the champion Poland China gilt in the 4-H swine show held last Tuesday.

Larry Hoffsis of Bucyrus was awarded third place in the Chester White division.

EARLY MORNING ROUNDUP. Patrolman holds pistol ready as three of five members of a burglary gang lie face down and arms outstretched after being captured in Greenwich Village at New York City. Two others were taken into custody by five detectives who were given assistance by 35 uniformed patrolmen in the early morning roundup. One plunged 20 feet from an open third floor window to the roof of an adjoining building. A dozen shots were fired by the officers.

later "corrected by someone who knew English pretty well" and the prisoners had to recopy them, Mahurin added.

Mahurin was listed high up on the Reds "confessed" list.

"I would say that the boys who did not write 'confessions' should get the Medal of Honor,' he said.

"I did not know human beings could be so inhuman to other human beings."

The Reds threatened him with death They kept him standing at attention for days on end. They made him squat on his feet until his feet were frozen.

Finally he was driven to attempt suicide.

"I slashed my wrists," he said, "but they caught me and gave me medical attention just as I was about to lose consciousness."

Mahurin had shot down three Russian-built MIG jets and shared credit with a flier for another MIG kill when captured. He also shot down 22 German and Japanese planes in World War II.

Similar Case

"My case was very similar to Mahurin's except that I was not a prisoner as long," Evans said.

Marine Lt Col. Frank H. Schwable, of Arlington, Va., was one of two marked "No Press" by the doctors. He was placed No 1 on the Red list. The other "No Press" case was Marine Maj. Roy H. Bley, of Santa Ana, Calif.

Schwable told military press officers he had not talked to a fellow prisoner for 14 months but was interrogated by the Reds steadily until March, 1953. Aug. 9, well after the truce was signed, the questioning began anew and lasted for 20 hours at a stretch until last Wednesday.

Organize Under Nixon

Ike's Followers Striving To Fill Gap Left by Taft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is moving quietly under the guiding hand of Vice President Nixon to organize its own team of supporters to fill the legislative gap left by the death of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio)

Nixon reportedly has White House approval for an effort to bring to the forefront in the next session of Congress such active supporters of Eisenhower as Republican Sens. Ives of New York, Duff and Hendrickson and H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey.

Eisenhower Backers

Most of these senators were for Eisenhower when Taft was contesting for last year's nomination. Despie their individual activities they were somewhat eclipsed in this year's session by the dominance of Taft and his followers in the legislative councils.

The plan, as Nixon has outlined it to friends, is to push each of these senators forward as an expert on some particular phase of the legislative program. It is felt at the White House that they more nearly represent Eisenhower's views than some of the sponsors of bills in the previous session.

Under this plan, Ives would be advanced as an administration spokesman for changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Duff, Saltonstall Jobs

Duff might be used, along with Saltonstall, to speak on military matters. Hendrickson would be the mouthpiece on civil rights legislation. Smith would be a source of information to his colleagues on foreign affairs. And Carlson would handle the proposed postal rate increase and civil service matters.

It was emphasized by Nixon in his talks with friends that this move was not aimed at undermining the influence of Sen. Knowland of California as Senate Republican leader.

Knowland will continue to be the official spokesman for the Senate Republicans, have the chief voice in the scheduling of legislation and represent them along with other leaders at White House conferences.

No Match for Taft

But even Knowland's best friends do not believe he can come close to the dominance exerted by Taft on the Republican program in the Senate.

However, in all of these arrangements, the White House apparently is not losing sight of the fact that it will have to deal with a substantial body of GOP senators who more nearly shared the views of Taft on domestic and foreign issues than they do those of Eisenhower.

To keep this contingent in close touch with the President, Eisenhower has named Jack Martin, Taft's chief aide, as a White House administrative assistant.

South American City Orders Traffic Exams

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — The National Safety Council, in view of the average of 13 recorded accidents and 15 traffic fatalities per day, ordered all drivers in this city to report for medical and mental exams

"Last year," one official said, "there were a total of 4,894 accidents registered by the police department, and the number of unreported accidents would be about three times that figure."

He said no less than 5,008 persons were injured in traffic accidents last year.

"The time has come," he said, "to do more than just check the eyesight of motorists. We have to determine their mental attitude toward driving, and their reactions. You can't be a safe driver, if you're highly strung, nervous, and impatient. We have to weed these types off the streets."

MOTH-NO FLAME

CINCINNATI, O. (UP) — Fire Marshal Walter Zimmer found no fire when he investigated the cause of an alarm, but he theorized that a moth found inside a vault protected by the fire alarm system had fluttered across the system's electronic beam, setting off the alarm.
